DELEGATES MIX AT COURT HOUSE

Confusion Results from Calling of Two Conventions for the Same Place.

DEMOCRATS PICK MEN

To Represent Them at Various Nominating Conventions and Name Candidates.

Confusion was caused Wednesday afternoon in the upstairs auditorium of the court house as a result of the calling of two political conventions for the same time and place. The Prohibitionists of the First congressional district were billed to hold their nominating convention there and the Democrats of Clark district had arranged to hold their district delegate convention there also.

Both Prohibitionists and Democrats assembled at 2 o'clock for their respective meetings, but the Democrats of the magisterial district soon outnumbered the Prohibitionists of the congressional district and, having possession by force of numbers, proceeded to name district officers, committeemen and delegates to their various nominating conventions. Harry R. Downs was made chairman and Louis A. Johnson secretary.

James White and Lee Maxwell were named as members of the executive committee.

For president of the district board of education, Asbury Greathouse was nominated by acclamation.

The following delegates to the congressional convention at Fairmont were named: Percy Byrd, John J. Dolan, Edward Hood, John Harbert, Carl Neff, Millard F. Snider and J. E. Smith.

The following delegates were named to the district senatorial convention: W. T. Mulhern, Albert Carter, W. L. Fowler, J. Ward Russell, Ransel Johnson, Homer Bartlett, Stanley Cody, Edward Wood, Brooks Harr, John A. High, Thomas Leary, A. R. Timberlake, Joseph Leary, J. J. Davis and C. R. Ogden.

To attend the county convention, the following delegates were named: W. Russell, Frank Finly, E. B. Campbell, Edward Hood, Frank Mills, Emmett Harbert, J. R. Van-nort, H. C. Alexander, Glenn Williams, R. S. Douglas, Louis A. Johnson, Lee Holden, George L. Anderson, Ransel Johnson, George Duncan, Thomas Connell, A. J. West, John Flaherty, A. J. Carter and Amos Carter.

The following were named as delegates to the state convention: Edward Lewis, Lee Maxwell, James M. White, Carl Caywood, P. C. Williams, John Stewart and W. T. Byrd.

Similar magisterial district delegate conventions were held throughout the county Wednesday afternoon by the Democrats and the same action was taken at each of them.

FRAUD IS CHARGED AT COAL CONVENTION.

Fraud, ballot box stuffing and crooked work in general were the charges made by Thomas Francis at the Coal district Democratic convention held in the Lyceum theater, when the result of the election for two members of the district executive committee was announced.

The nominees for this position were L. S. Hornor, Luke Murray and Millard F. Bartlett, and the result of the election was Murray, 177 votes, Bartlett, 77, and Hornor, 43 votes. It was at this point that Mr. Francis arose to the floor and made a motion that the house be canvassed to find out how many voters there were in attendance. This motion was seconded but was never acted upon, as Camden Sommers made a motion that the chairman read the result of the election and declare the men elected. This was carried and the result was read, although it was stubbornly objected to by Mr. Francis and his followers.

Mr. Francis and followers immediately left the theater and would take no further part in the convention. As a parting shot Mr. Francis yelled, "P. K. and Glen Falls."

Fred L. Shinn was chosen chairman and J. G. Shaw secretary.

Luke Murray and Millard F. Bartlett were elected members of the county executive committee, defeating L. S. Hornor for the position.

The twenty delegates to represent the district at the county convention are C. H. Pew, T. J. Francis, Camden Sommers, Millard F. Bartlett, W. E. Downs, John Tierney, Fred Fordyce, Ale Ice, Patrick J. McAndrew, Bruce Mason, W. L. Serkman, J. L. Meredith, C. E. Wilmoth, H. M. Rogers, L. E. Dorsey, Fred L. Shinn, J. S. Rodney, George Lamb, A. Jarvis and Boyd Allen.

Seven delegates were named to attend the senatorial convention. They are Luke Murray, Charles Green, Boyd Allen, Millard F. Bartlett, Fred Fordyce, Fred L. Shinn and Camden Sommers.

The delegates to the First district congressional convention are L. S. Hornor, Thomas Haymond, P. J. Owens, Richard Mayo, Henry Somerville, T. J. Francis and Howard Robinson.

Seven delegates were named to the state convention, namely, A. C. Ice, H. T. Wilson, A. Joris, L. E. Dorsey, Harry Beecom, J. G. Shaw and John Tierney.

L. E. Dorsey and A. Joris were nominated for members of the board of education.

TESTIMONY

Of Storstad's First Officer Contradicts Some of That Given by Captain at Inquiry.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS) QUEBEC, June 18.—The captain and the first officer of the collier, Storstad, testified at the Empress of Ireland wreck inquiry and contradicted in several particulars the statements made on the stand by Captain Randall of the lost liner.

The first officer, Alfred Puentes, who was in command of the collier when the collision occurred, insisted that there was no explosion and no sheet of flame from the side of the Empress when she struck as Captain Kendall had described. Puentes swore that all he saw was sparks such as might have been expected from the impact of steel on steel.

The first officer admitted that he had not obeyed instructions in failing to call his captain from below when the fog shut down just before the collision. He said he believed that the Storstad had the right of way and that he was entitled to keep his course at reduced speed even though he had signalled previously to the Empress that he had stopped. It was the speed of the Empress, he explained, which caused the Storstad's bow to sink twelve feet into the side of the passenger vessel.

DROWNING

Caused Death of Philadelphia Boy According to Official Investigation.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS) PHILADELPHIA, June 18.—An examination of the body of seven-year-old Warren McCarriek, which was recovered from the Delaware river, showed that death was due to drowning. There was no evidence of violence.

A white substance resembling a chemical was found on exterior parts of the body. The coroner's physician believed that the presence of this was due to contact of the body with mud under the wharf. The police still hold to the theory that the boy was accidentally drowned, but the father of the child says he is not convinced.

MINISTER

And Others Plead for Pardon for Uniontown Murderer before State Board.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS) HARRISBURG, Pa., June 18.—The case of Frank Wells, of Fayette county, convicted with Lewis Deleo of killing a man in a holdup, was heard by the board of pardons for a commutation of the death sentence. Deleo was commuted some months ago. L. B. Brownfield, W. C. McKean and the Rev. J. S. Bromley made pleas for the condemned man and Dr. Bromley presented a petition for clemency from the ministers of Uniontown.

District Attorney S. A. Shelby opposed the pardon and declared that an example should be made of some of the men convicted of murder in Fayette county. The board will dispose of the cases at an executive session this afternoon and adjourn until September.

EXPECT VOTE ON SUFFRAGE BY JULY 15

Women Are Very Much Encouraged by Outlook in Their Struggle for Ballot.

(By Alice Lee Moque.) WASHINGTON, D. C., June 17.—Mrs. Antoinette Funk, the able lawyer and member of the National Congressional Committee, expresses herself as being confident that a vote on the Bristow-Mondell resolution will be taken before July 15. "Before that time," says Mrs. Funk, "we shall have presented to the House and Senate the petitions of our May 2 demonstrations and resolutions adopted by organizations or mass meetings, which will show Congress the strong demand for equal suffrage that comes from all parts of the country."

One of the most unexpected, and therefore most encouraging signs of the times is the great interest in suffrage manifested by the women of the South. Miss Lavinia Engle, of Washington, D. C., sent out by the congressional committee to aid in the work of advancing suffrage sentiment has met with wonderful success. Under the supervision of Mendell McCormick and with the able assistance of Mrs. Russell C. Cooley and other prominent Florida women, Miss Engle is editing a special suffrage edition of "The State," the most progressive paper of Jacksonville, Fla.

The magnificent victory won in Chicago at the General Federation of Women's Clubs is most pregnant with meaning. Not only did the Antis use every endeavor to prevent a vote being taken but for all of twenty years the constitution itself of the federation has acted as a bar against the question being raised, as all political and religious subjects taboos. In a voice quivering with emotion Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt explained that there was now no need for discussion for "the women of the world are waiting for our action today."

Mrs. E. G. Dennison, of California, had the honor of presenting the resolution endorsing the enfranchisement of women which was adopted without discussion. The viva voce vote was received with tumultuous approval and it was an inspiring sight when with tear dimmed eyes the rejoicing members rose to their feet and joined in a mighty chorus in singing the "Battle Hymn of the Republic."

Hardly had the convention passed the resolution favoring equal rights for all citizens that the glad news was received with enthusiastic applause that the Illinois state law granting women the right to vote for statutory officers had been upheld by the decision of the supreme court of the state. Well may all women rejoice for suffrage is indeed "marching on."

Mrs. Wilson's Wifely Devotion.

June this year is excessively warm and everyone who can leave town is making all haste to seek "pastures new." The president, however, has to remain in town to see that Congress does not shirk the work he has cut out for it, and with wifely devotion his better half firmly refuses to leave him. Quite a little gossip has been whispered about the last week apropos of Mrs. Wilson's health, some tales even making it appear that she was dangerously ill. However, according to the highest White House authority the First Lady in the Land while not yet herself is not even sick, although it is conceded that she has not recuperated as quickly as it had been hoped from the shock of the operation necessitated by her fall in the White House some four months ago. It is carefully explained that Mrs. Wilson while not yet strong is gaining every day. Mrs. McAdoo runs in every morning to spend an hour or two with her mother, and it is said most frequently finds her working in her little rose garden, among the flowers she loves. It is situated in a charming spot between the office building and the north terrace, just opposite the pretty garden of old fashioned flowers planted by Mrs. Roosevelt almost ten years ago at the time the additions were made to the executive mansion. Every morning in this month of roses some of the fairest blossoms from his wife's rose garden grace the vases on the president's desk and often he is seen proudly sporting a home-grown posy as a boutonniere.

Mrs. Wilson's brother, Professor Axson, accompanied the president on his return from the alumni day celebration, and he is now a guest at the White House as well as Miss Helen Woodrow Bones.

Representative's Narrow Escape.

While it has been kept as quiet as possible it has leaked out that Oscar W. Underwood, the honorable member from Alabama and famous Democratic leader, recently had a most narrow escape from serious injury. The other morning while riding in an avenue car around Peace Monument at the western entrance to the capitol grounds, a heavy dray drawn by a pair of huge draught horses ran madly down the street and before the motorman could put on his brakes the runaway, blind with fear, dashed into the car. The front vestibule was shattered into kindling wood and by the impact, the horses instantly killed and the car filled with a shower of splintered glass. Most fortunately Mr. Underwood with rare presence of mind protected his eyes at the moment of the collision and so escaped serious injury.

The course of study in Alabama normal schools is to be radically changed to include such subjects as rural sociology, biology, domestic science, domestic art, library methods, school gardening and agriculture.
